

Marijean A. Buhse, PhD, ANP, RN, MSCN

Marijean A. Buhse, PhD, ANP, RN, MSCN, is a Clinical Professor in the School of Nursing at Stony Brook University in Stony Brook, NY, where she is the Chair of the Advanced Practice Graduate Nursing Program. She has been an educator for 25 years. She also practices as a Nurse Practitioner at South Shore Neurologic on Long Island.

Dr. Buhse has been caring for persons with multiple sclerosis (MS) for more than 18 years. She has authored journal articles and has completed research on various aspects of living with MS. Much of her work focuses on older persons with MS and the effect on quality-of-life, social issues, and impact on caregivers.

A board member of the International Organization of MS Nurses and the Multiple Sclerosis Nurses International Certification Board, Dr. Buhse is also Past President of the Long Island MS Nurses Society, an organization dedicated to educating persons with MS living on Long Island.